Foreign Entry Requirements to the REPUBLIC OF EQUATORIAL GUINEA

A. - AMERICAN CITIZENS:

American citizens do not require a Visa to enter Equatorial Guinea; however, they are requested to fill out two visa-application forms and submit two passport photos along with them. They must also submit the following:

- * If traveling on business, the applicant is to forward a letter from his employer, stating the nature and duration of business, as well as a financial statement from the company financing the travel confirming a minimum amount of US$ 2,000.00 that would cover all expenses while in the Equatorial Guinea.

Applicants must sign their forms.

- * If traveling on tourism, the applicant must send along the forms and passport pictures a bank statement or equivalent, declaring also a minimum of US$ 2,000.00
- * If the applicant is to stay more than ninety (90) days, he/she must obtain a permit from the National Police Bureau in Malabo or Bata and prove sufficient funds for that term or submit an employment contract that will guarantee his expenses in Equatorial Guinea.
- * As American citizens enter the country, they should expect to present a valid passport and proof of smallpox, yellow fever and cholera immunization to the immigration officers.
- * A postage paid return envelope should be included with the application.

B.- ALL OTHERS:

To obtain an entry visa to Equatorial Guinea, all other citizens must submit to the Embassy:

- * An original and valid passport. Photocopies are not accepted.
- * Two applications forms duly filled out and signed. A passport photo is to accompany each form.
- * If traveling on tourism, a bank statement or equivalent confirming the amount of US$ 2,000.00 that will cover expenses while in Equatorial Guinea.
- * If traveling on business, a letter issued by the applicant's employer stating nature and duration of business. The company must also take responsibility for the applicant's expenses and declare so in its letter; if that is not the case, the applicant must submit any other verifiable source.
- * Police clearance is required for visa approval.
- * A check or money order for the amount of US$ 100.00 application fee, non refundable.
Checks should be made payable to CONSULATE OF EQUATORIAL GUINEA, HOUSTON TX
- * A postage paid return envelope should be included with the application.
